Hi Lily,

Please see attached. I don't have any press response compilations for January-February of this year, but I'm including a compilation from March until present. This is what I used to get to those numbers.
If you have the compilation for Jan- Feb, please send my way and I will recalculate.

As far as articles, I've only been keeping track of those since I started with Hunters Point, so I don't have a number for the entire year. I do have all of those as pdf documents, so let me know if Enrique wants them.

Please let me know if you have any questions.
Thanks!

Dear Soledad,

Enrique wants to get real life data on the workload re press response. At some point could you count up whatever you think is meaningful measure[s], e.g.

x number of questions answered in the past month
x different sets of requests this year?

X pages of questions & responses during x months? [then you can just count pages in the compilations you did?

Or maybe another measure is better?

He didn't give a deadline, but I know he'll be talking with some other people about planning for future on Thurs, so Maybe by Thurs morning if you have time?
